I appreciate very much being a girl of Myanmar Citizen because of its rich culture and tradition. We, the girls, live in a very challenging life in this current days because men and women both have to work hard for the family living. That is why, the thoughts life this often came into my mind “If I try, I can be a president”. Everything is possible for those who keep on trying their best.

I have experience of solving my difficulty by helping other people first. When you help others, you are helped when you need. I want to be a designer. Now I am attending sowing class at Rose Virginie Vocational Training Center run by the Good Shepherd Sisters. When I finish my training, I can earn money for my family and continue to attend designer course. Human being need to provide help, support, understanding to one another to obtain what they want to be in the future.

What I want to say to the girls like me...

- ❖ Try your best
- ❖ Don't get discouraged easily
- ❖ Keep on going till the end of your destination
- ❖ Don't be an arrogant person
- ❖ Don't dominate others
